WHO BENEFITS FROM OPEN ACCESS

- Scholars in universities
- Libraries, schools, educators, the public in general
- Publishers
- The private sector

WAYS TO PUBLISH OPEN ACCESS

> Publish in an Open Access Journal (might require author payments)

= Gold Open Access

> Pay to publish open access in a subscription journal ("hybrid")

= Hybrid Open Access

> Deposit your (toll access) article in an Open Access repository (considering embargo periods and the right version):
>> institutional repository >> disciplinary repositories (e.g. PubMedCentral, arXiv)

= Green Open Access

OPEN ACCESS INITIATIVE
COALITION S

10 principles, such as:

› All publications have to be open access & under a free license (CC BY)

› Green Open Access possible but difficult:

> „Immediately upon publication, authors deposit the final published version of a scholarly publication (Version of Record (VoR)) or an Author's Accepted Manuscript (AAM), in a Plan S compliant repository. The document is made available immediately open access (with no embargo) under a CC BY license."

› Role of archives and repositories (long-term archiving)

Effective for all publications within projects starting with 01.01.2020

Signed by FWF (Austrian Funder), European Commission
